

The Johns Hopkins Kelly Gynecologic Oncology Service and Sibley Memorial Hospital invite you to attend the

2017 Gynecologic Cancer SURVIVORSHIP CONFERENCE

Thriving Through Education and Connection

Saturday, September 23, 2017

8:30 am – 4:30 pm

Baltimore Marriott Inner Harbor at Camden Yards

Register Online: JHGynecologicSurvivors.com

The Johns Hopkins Department of Gynecology and Obstetrics

2017 Gynecologic Cancer Survivorship Conference

Thriving Through Education and Connection

Our exciting program will include sessions on:

- Optimizing nutrition
- Fertility options for cancer survivors
- Sexuality and self-image following a cancer diagnosis
- Integrative medicine treatment options
- Rare tumors
- How to talk to children about your cancer diagnosis
- Massage, Reiki, Meditation and Yoga
- Managing treatment side effects, including lymphedema and neuropathy
- Care of the caregiver
- Spirituality and the cancer journey
- The newest options in cancer treatment: PARP inhibitors and immunotherapy
- Panel discussion with a diverse group of gynecologic cancer survivors

Conference Leads:

Susan Burgert, M.D., Gynecologic Cancer Survivor
Amanda Fader, M.D., The Johns Hopkins Hospital
Nancy Farruggia, R.N., The Johns Hopkins Hospital
Jeffrey Lin, M.D., Sibley Memorial Hospital
Joann Nugent, R.N., The Johns Hopkins Hospital
Paula Silverman, Caregiver and Family
Antoinette Solnik, R.N., B.S.N., Sibley Memorial Hospital
Laurie Thorner, S.W., The Johns Hopkins Hospital
Stephanie L. Wethington, M.D., M.Sc., The Johns Hopkins Hospital

$50 registration fee through September 15th. $60 registration fee after September 15th.

Fee includes conference sessions, breakfast, lunch and refreshments.

JHGynecologicSurvivors.com